MEDICINAL.

Sleeplessness

Such symptoms delicate womanly organs, and a constant drain of the vital and nervous forces. This condition cannot be overcome by sleeping powders. The diseased condition must be cured before the consequences of disease are removed.

Dr. Pierce's Favorile Prescription cures the womanly diseases which cause nerv-ousness and sleeplessness. It is the best of tonies and invigorants, nourishing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and in-ducing refreshing sleep.

$500 Reward for Women Who Cannot be Cared.

Proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Pavorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

"My wife was sick for over eight years," writes Albert H. Pulte, Pay, of Altamont Grundy Co.,

Dr. Plerce's Plensant Pelicts should be used with "Favorice Prescription" when-ever a laxative is required.

ON THE BATTLEGROUND. A correspondent of the Richmond Times-Dispatch writing from Manassas on Saturday last says:

The Virginia troops are snugly tucked up for the night, and are sleeping the ed up for the night, and are steeping the sleep of those who have done good service. I left their camp at 1 o'clock. tonight. Although the Virginians only reached it at 6 o'clock, it looks as though they had been in camp there for weeks. The regiment reached Camp No. 1 at 4 o'clock and marched three miles to the position where they are stationed. There are 526 men and 53 officers strong, and officers of the reguofficers strong, and officers of the regu-lar army who observed them on the march spoke of them in the highest praise. Major Bossieux's battalion, the First, was the first to reach camp. Major King, the newly elected major of the regiment, met the special train at Alexandria and took command of his Alexandria and took command of his battalion on reaching Camp No. 1. The Virginians have the post of honor in General Grant's army, for they are the farthest from headquarters and nearest to the camp of the enemy. Next to the Virginia regiment the Texans are encamped, and below them the Sixteenth United States Infantry. Colonel Geo. Wayne Anderson, commanding, spoke preparations for this army game. When the snow was still on the ground Colonel L. S. Brown, general agent for the Southern Railway Company, in conjunction with army authorities, began to plan for the maneuvers. There were four hundred and fifty land-owners to be four hundred and fifty land-owners to be seen, and each of these had to be persuaded to grant a right of way. These land proprietors together owned 65,000 acres, and it can readily be seen that the undertaking was gigantic. The government pays, for five days' use of the area, a rent of twenty cents an acre, the area, a rent of twenty cents an acre, and an additional rent of thirty-five time she was in the front yard and that and an additional rent of thirty-five cents an acre for 3,000 acres of actual camps, and so the farmers of Fairfax and Prince William counties will obtain for the use of their lands more than $14,000. The Southern Railway has installed twenty-six miles of side and spur tracks at Manassas, Gainesville and Thoroughfare, and will run within the week one hundred and seventy special trains or more than 1,700 passenger coaches. The farmers are greatly pleased, I am told, with the personnel of the board that will fix damages. Captain W. H. Brown, L. M. BLACKFORD, M. A, LL. D.,

Saturday by an ancient but sprightly newspaper man from the evergreen hills of Vermout. I had said to him that he was far from his own bailiwick—"A stranger in a strange land." "Not a bit," he told me, and it turned out that write the ALEXANDRIA AND had good cause to remember it. His command lost 275 men in five minutes, and his run from the battlefield to Washand his run from the oatestard and his run from the batter apprint of the hero of Marathon. He showed me a photograph taken just before the battle, in which picture a pair of new shoes played a very prominent part, but, said he. "They did not look new when I reached the banks of the Potomac."

Charged With Poisoning Step-daughter.

Mrs. W. R. Krauss, a stepmother, 27 rears of age, and a bride of two months, is in jail, at Hartford City, Ind., stepdaughter Mrs. Krauss is a pretty woman. Inform and features she has been called beautiful by many who knew her. Before her stepdaughter died Mrs. Krauss caimly called the physicians to attend the girl she is accused of having murdered. She telephoned to the newspaper men to come and get details of the young girl's death. She arranged the funeral ceremony and chose the Psalms that were sung. All this she did with dry eyes, and, although accused and confronted by damaging evidence, she beats down the gaze of her accusers, declares her innocence and defies them to prove her guilty. No one in Hartford City has been more conspicuous in church work than Mrs. Krauss and her mother. Mrs. Krauss asserts that the girl had stomach trouble for several days, and gave it as her opinion that her death was due to acute indigestion. The attending physicians questioned her closely, for they knew the girl had died in convulsions. It was then that Mrs. Krauss suggested whells. Previous to this the physicians suicide Previous to this the physicians had made a search of the bed and found
